"WAIT FOR THE WAGONS AND WE'LL ALL TAKE A RIDE;" AND SLEEP AS WELL.

(By W. M. Wright.)

NORFOLK, VA.—If the question where shall I sleep while attending the Jamestown Exposition" has been troubling any one there is now no use for further anxiety. If "Necessity is the Mother of Invention," Genius is the father, and of him it cannot be said "Everybody works but father." The old man has been exceedingly busy for many years and every time the Mother of Necessity told him that the "kid" needed anything he at once produced it. He has never been yanked up in the church or courts for non-support or dereliction of duty.

For some time Old Mother Necessity has been distressed because Invention did not provide some means by which the denizens of this mundane sphere could carry their houses along with them something after the order of the tortoise. She finally mentioned it to Father Genius and he sat down and pondered over the problem for a few minutes and then went out to a manufacturer of vehicles and gave them a friendly tip.

The result is that visitors to the Jamestown Expoosition need have no further anxiety about where they will repose at nignt if all the hotels, hoarding houses and park benches are full.

They can stand on a corner of the grounds or some of the streets or avenues of the grounds for a few minutes and a handsome equippage will drive along. They will hail it and say. "I wish to retire at some desirable spot along the water front on Hampton Roads and be left at the Military Catering Company's cafe for breakfast. They will then step into the vehicle and the driver will seek the desired spot; dismount from his seat, touch a spring and the team will walk away. He will touch another spring and lo! and behold, the guests will find themselves sitting in a cozy little room with berths on each side, Brussels carpet on the floor and all other modern conveniences, figuratively speaking. The driver will then take the team to another like equippage and attach them to it and set out for another "fare." In the morning he will land them all at their breakfast rendezvous and collect fare.

This may be a little over-drawn but it is virtually descriptive of a vehicle that is now in use for touring in wagons for market purposes and various other uses. It is built with a callapsible top that in a few minutes can be transformed into a market booth with roof and walls and a stand on which to display vegetables or other produce, or into a neat compartment. When assembled it looks very much like a regular handsome covered delivery wagon with side windows, such as you see every day in cities.

Prisoners Sentenced.

At argument court held last week Judge Hall sentenced the following persons, who plead guilty:

Daniel McFadden, larceny, fifteen months in penitentiary.

William Smith; larceny, 18 months in penitentiary.

Sensabaw and Best, larceny, sixty and ninety days in jail.

Considerable business was transacted. Judge Hall decided to hold argument court once each month—the first Tuesday after the first Monday.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

COLEMAN.

MRS. SARAH F. COLEMAN, aged 88 years and three months, passed away—peacefully slept away—Thursday, Feb. 7th, 1907, at five o'clock, p. m, at the residence of her son, Mr. E. G. Coleman, West Fourth street. Grandma Coleman was one of the sweetest characters it has ever been our good fortune to know. Her advanced age might, and usually does, enfeeble one of her age, but in her case—until the last few months—she was as spry and jolly as a young girl, full of fun, witty and entertaining. Coming to Emporium about fourteen years ago she rapidly became a favorite and every one had a pleasant word for her. Her kind and dutiful son, our esteemed friend, Mr. E. G. Coleman, was untiring in his efforts to make her life pleasant and nothing that money or attention could do to make her last days comfortable was denied her. Grandma Coleman's husband, who in his early days was mate to a ship Captain and cruised upon the high seas, died about fifteen years ago. Deceased leaves three children, viz: Mrs. Coe, Wampsville, N. Y., E. G., at home and another son, an invalid. Funeral services were held at the residence Sunday afternoon, Rev. Johnston pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiating. The remains were taken to Tidioute, Pa., Monday morning and interred Tuesday, beside her deceased husband. Mr. Coleman, on account of illness, was unable to accompany the remains, but his sister, Master Edward Coleman and Miss E Marth, of Olean, attended to the sad duty. At Tidioute they met hosts of friends who loved the dear old lady as fondly as did her Emporium friends.

ROBINSON.

MRS. JANE ROBINSON, aged 66 years, one month and 24 days, died at the family residence West Fifth street, Sunday morning, Feb. 10th, 1907, of pneumonia, after an illness of only a few days. Mrs. Robinson accompanied her husband the late Thos. Robinson, to Emporium, from New York city about forty years ago, and has resided here ever since, rearing a large family. Being a lady of more than average intelligence it was chiefly due to her good planning and economy that the family secured an excellent property. She maintained the respect of our citizens with whom she lived these many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson came to America from the North of Ireland, where the wife early in life united with the Episcopal church and reared her family in that faith. In addition to a large family of her own she has assisted in caring for her grandchildren. Of the nine children born to them, all are alive but three, and the living children were in attendance at the funeral, viz: Mrs. Lizzie Reed, of Johnsonburg, and John, Andrew, Anson and Thos. of town. The children, all of whom were greatly devoted to their mother, have lost their best friend and will feel more keenly each day their loss.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from the old home, at two o'clock, services being conducted at Emmannel Episcopal Church, of which the deceased was a member and loved to attend when her domestic duties permitted.

DALPHY.

Albert Dalphy, aged 51 years, six months and three days, passed over to the great beyond, Tuesday morning, after an illness of several years. Mr. Dalphy, who came here many years ago from Rutland, Vt., was always, when able, an industrious man and good citizen. He leaves a faithful wife who patiently cared for him during his long illness. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, West Fourth street, Rev. Cleaver officiating.

KINSLER.

Mrs. Kinsler, aged 72 years, mother of Jos. and Frank Kinsler, and Mrs. Adam Market, died at the residence of the latter at Sizerville, Tuesday night, of Bright's disease, after an illness of two years. Her remains will be brought to Jos. Kinsler's residence this afternoon, the funeral taking place at St Mark's Church at nine o'clock to-morrow morning.

Letter to Tax Payers of Shippen.

EDITOR PRESS:—

Fellow citizens of Shippen! I do not feel that I disgraced the public who elected me in 1905 Supervisor, nor the man who appointed me Road Master in 1906. I have worked no other man's team in my name. I will show by my report only 330 hours for my team and teamster. While the general funds lasted, in six months I don't say that our bill was not big on West Creek. Two iron bridges were erected and four stone bridges and iron for another bridge. It has cost Shippen township nearly $150 to pay the Road Master to meet with the Supervisors. If the law was enforced to meet twelve times a year it would have been only half the price and reduce livery bills one-half. I asked the President of the Board of Supervisors why we should meet every two weeks, when he replied that "they could not live on their creek without meeting every two weeks." I can show teams and teamsters for all the teams I hired and who drove them. Hit where it may, my January report, dated Jan. 26th, 1907, for men and teams, was $72 25, for filling the Beechwood bridge approach. Jan. 26th, 1907, the report on main stream was eighty hours, for one man and fifty hours for team, $36.00. I am not in the "ring," neither am I a coward.

The Schehlmann Memorial Organ at College Park, Va.—A Project Started by the Late Miss Anna Metzger.

When Miss Anna Metzger was first called to Randolph-Macon Woman's College at College Park, Va., her work was in association with that of the late Professor Schehlmann, whom at his death a year or two later she succeeded as the head of the musical department. In her characteristic spirit of generous appreciation of the work of another, she started the project of providing an organ in the new college schapel as a memorial to Professor Schehlmann She was not permitted to see the completion of her undertaking, but it is a source of deep gratification to her friends to know that the organ has been installed. It will stand as a monument to her generous and enthusiastic spirit; as well as a memorial to her predecessor.

The following is an extract from a letter to Mr. George Metzger, Sr., from Mrs. W. B. Lane, a member of the faculty at Randolph-Macon, under date of the 7th inst:

"Last Saturday night the V. P. I., Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Frank Abbott, gave a concert in the college chapel for the benefit of the Schehlmann Memorial Organ, an enterprise which Miss Metzger launched last year. She would have been gladdened to see the fine instrument that her thoughtfulness and resource and musical magnetism were largely instrumental in securing for the college, as it stands in its nave in its new chapel. That of course was not to be, but I thought you might be interested to know of the success of her project. And also I feel like telling you of the profound impression that was made upon the audience, consisting of town people and students, when the Glee Club sang a hymn set to one of Miss Metzger's own compositious. The tribute of silence that was eloquent, and of tears that would not stop, manifested the double influence of her musical power and of her beloved memory over the hearts of the people who knew her and of those who knew her not. And I am sure that the public here, as well as her private friends, who are many, will not let her memory die easily or soon among us"

Wanamaker's Home Burned.

Jenkintown, Feb. 9—Lyndenhurst, the handsome country estate of John Wanamaker, was completely ruined by fire last evening. The expensive furnishings, with the exception of practically all of many valuable paintings, were destroyed. Half a dozen fire companies were powerless, owing to the freezing up of the water supply. The loss will exceed $1,000,000 and may reach $1,500,000. Mr. Wanamaker and family are in Philadelphia during the winter, and the country house is in charge of a caretaker.

Mountaineer Minstrels.

The much talked of minstrel entertainment advertised for last Friday evening, was a great success, the opera house being packed to its capacity, many being in attendance from other towns.

PART FIRST.

Interlocutor, Robt. H. Lyons; Tambos, Harry Derby, Jay P. Felt, John Quigley; Bones, Thos. Law, Clyde Fisher, Emmett C. Tulis, with the following array of talent: Jos. Burnside, Carl Blair, Russell McQuay, Gus. Whitmer, Frances Quinn, Enoch Bucklew, Earl Saunders, Clifford Burkhart, Frank Burfield, Chas. Leutze, W. S Sterner, Chas. Shives, Clif. S. Larrabee and Geo. A. Walker. The circle formed in the above order with Prof. A. C. Brehm's orchestra elevated upon a platform at the rear of stage called a hearty reception when the curtain was "rung" up The songs and jokes were hugely appreciated and pleased the vast audience. The boys very creditably filled their parts and for almost three hours entertained far above the traveling minstrels. They did not run out of material and had time permitted could have added many pleasing features. After the first part Prof. J. W. Lee, the champion slack wire walker, entertained the audience and was good. The favorite dancers, Jos. Farrell and Dawson Wright came in for a hearty encore, as did Sam Parks with his old-time jig dance. "Lafayette" Leon Felt and "LaCardo" Quigley in their slight of hand tricks were clever. Prof. Buckley in his contortion acts met with favor, as did Prof. Fisk's saw wood musical tricks. J. M. Davison delighted the audience with a cornet solo and was called to the front twice.

Space will not permit us to particularize further, yet we must state that the success of the entertainment is largely due to the persistent and hard work of M. J. Harris, the manager, who was ably assisted by Mr. Brehm, who gave much time and declined to accept one penny for his services. The boys will make the minstrel feature a permanent thing, believing the plan will please the general public more than dances and entertain all classes. The net proceeds were $245.33.

Congressman Barclay Banqueted.

While visiting in Harrisburg last week for the purpose of getting better acquainted with the Representatives and Senators of this Congressional district, Capt. C. F. Barclay was tendered a reception and banquet at Senate hotel. The occasion which took place on Wednesday evening, of last week, was highly complimentary to the Congressman-elect, being attended by all members in the district, regardless of party. Speaker F. B. McClain was a guest of honor. Our genial Representative in Congress, after March 4th, makes friends wherever he goes and had the election been postponed his large and handsome majority would have been very materially increased.

Token of Gratitude.

The numerous employees of the Emporium Furnace Company overwhelmed their employer, Mr. Brady, last Saturday, when they presented him with an expensive and handsome travelling satchel, including a full set of brushes, combs, etc., each of sterling silver. The satchel is made of black English Walrus leather, gold trimmings. It is certainly a beauty—too nice to use. While Mr. Brady is delighted with the present and appreciates the kindness of his employees he hesitated to carry it when he went to New York on Tuesday, fearing the porters would take him for Harriman and expect a $2 tip.

Charm Lost.

Five dollars reward will be paid for the recovery of an Elk's Charm, that was lost in Emporium. "E. E. M." engraved on reverse side of charm. Finder will please leave same at New Warner House.

THOS. A. ROBARTS DIES IN PHILADELPHIA.

Thos. A. Robarts, Supt. of P. & E. R. R. since 1882, died in Medico-Chi. hospital at Philadelphia on Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock, surrounded by his wife and family. Mr. Robarts, who was 66 years old, has been in feeble health for a long time.

We wish to inform the general public that we shall add and up-to-date dry goods department to our already large line of goods. We shall aim to keep a full line.

Quarterly Meeting.

The second District, Oil City Conference of the Free Methodist church will be held in the Emporium Free Methodist church East Fifth street. The district elder Rev. A. J. Hill will be in charge of the meetings and the ministers of the district will be in attendance and help in the meetings. Visitors from over the district are expected. Good singing and preaching and a hearty welcome to all.

Services as follows: Thursday and each evening preaching service a 7:30. Friday, preaching at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m., and evening. Saturday, business meeting 9 a m., preaching, at 2:30 p. m., and evening Sabbath Lovefeast at 9 a. m., preaching at 11:00 followed by communion service. W. F. M., meeting at 2:30, evening at 7:00. Revival services are now being held every evening at 7:30 and will be continued until district meeting. All are invited to come.

J. NELSON BENNETT, Pastor.

Pleasantly Entertained.

Mrs. Geo. Metzger, Jr., very pleasantly entertained about thirty-five lady friends at whist, Tuesday afternoon and evening, in honor of Mrs. C. W. Shaffer.

Will Locate Here.

H. H. Nessley has arrived in Emporium and informs the PRESS that after March 1st he will permanently locate in Emporium and engage in contracting work. Mr. Nessley is an experienced builder and will meet with a hearty reception.

The Candidates.

The voters of Emporium should, and no doubt will, study carefully the several candidates nominated, all names appearing in this issue of the PRESS. The strong ticket placed in the field represents the best interests of the taxpayers and will receive the support of a majority of the voters. Study well the merits of the candidates and vote intelligently. The main contest appears to be on constable and collector and school director in Middle ward. Don't be caught by any clap trap arguments for an object. Study well all points and the wherefores.

Bishop Whitehead.

Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, Bishop of Pittsburg, visited Emmanual Parish yesterday, administering the rite of confirmation to a class of ten last evening. He was greeted by a large congregation and preached an able sermon. After the services many attended a reception at the Parish House, in honor of the 25th anniversary of his ordination as Bishop.

Home Made Catarrh Cure.

Any one can mix right at home the best remedy of its kind known. The name "Cyclone" is given to the following prescription, it is supposed because of its promptness in driving from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison, relieving this foul and dread disease, no matter where located. To prepare the mixture: Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless, inexpensive mixture, which has a peculiar action upon the siminative tissues of the Kidneys assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system all catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

Prepare some and try it, as it is the prescription of an eminent catarrh specialist of national reputation.

His method, known only to himself, is a simple one.

Four-fifths of the operatives in the Japanese mills are women, probably due to the fact that they will work for less than the men, who can do better outside. OVER $100,000,000

SENT FROM THIS COUNTRY IN 1906 TO EUROPE.

Immense Sums of Money Saved by Foreign Born Work People in the United States Remitted Every Year to Their Needy Relatives in the Old World.

American labor, every man who works for wages, every labor organization, every trades union, will be interested in the following official statement showing the number and amount of postal money orders issued in the United States for payment abroad during each of the fiscal years ending June 30, from 1892 to 1906, inclusive:

Year ending

June 30.	No. issued.	Amount.
1892	983,476	$15,120,272
1893	1,055,999	16,341,838
1894	917,823	13,792,455
1895	909,278	12,906,486
1896	985,799	13,852,616
1897	944,185	13,588,379
1898	955,344	13,239,769
1899	968,501	13,744,770
1900	1,102,067	16,749,018
1901	1,247,888	20,072,614
1902	1,311,111	22,974,473
1903	1,914,149	35,237,935
1904	2,208,344	42,550,151
1905	2,506,384	47,516,028
1906	3,036,508	63,047,867

In the eight years, 1892 to 1899, inclusive—two of these years being protective tariff years, and six years covering the free trade tariff period and the recovery from the effects of that tariff—American money orders sent abroad amounted to $112,586,585, being an average of $14,072,048 per year.

In the next ensuing seven years of the full benefits of Dingley tariff protection, 1900 to 1906, inclusive, the total of money orders sent abroad was $249,148,082, the yearly average being $35,572,783.

These are purely postal figures. They do not include the amounts sent abroad by express money orders, by registered letters, or by small drafts purchased from American banks. It would be safe to say that, all told, the 1906 remittances by American wage earners to foreigners amounted to fully $100,000,000.

Is not this a unique, an extraordinary showing?

Does it not reflect in striking form the unparalleled position of American labor?

Does it not bear directly upon the question whether the wage earners have or have not shared liberally in the great gains of American industry in the past ten years of adequate protection to domestic labor?

Does it not tend to prove that the increase alike in the rate of wages paid and in the total sum of wages has far outrun the increase in the cost of living?

Over $63,000,000 was sent abroad through the post office during the year ending June 30, 1906, by prosperous Americans of foreign birth or extraction to their relatives in other lands.

The figures of postal orders issued in the United States for payment abroad begin with 1892. That was what may be termed a normal protection year. The labor of the country was well employed under the McKinley tariff of 1890. At the end of June, 1893, the Wilson-Gorman bill had not yet been enacted. Labor had not begun to feel the pinch of tighter times. So the amount sent abroad went up to $16,341,838.

Now, note the next year, 1894, after the force of the panic of 1893, a free trade panic, became visible. Then there was a drop to $13,792,455. The next year, 1895, after the mills and factories had closed their doors to a million work people, there was a further drop to $12,903,486. This was low water mark. Wage earners had less to spare to send abroad.

In 1897 came the Dingley law. Meanwhile the warehouses and store shelves had been filled with foreign goods rushed to the United States at lower tariff rates in anticipation of the higher tariff of 1897. Wherefore the real benefits of the Dingley tariff were not visible until these supplies were exhausted, and it was not until 1900 that the first big jump in foreign remittances occurred. That year the postal orders amounted to $16,749,018.

The sums sent to other countries by wage earners in the United States in postal orders increased by leaps and bounds from 1900 on: In 1901, over $20,000,000; in 1902, nearly $23,000,000; in 1903, over $35,000,000; in 1904, over $42,500,000; in 1905, over $47,500,000; and in 1906, over $63,000,000!

Where did all this money come from? Not from the savings banks, for the savings deposits of $1,747,961,280 in 1894 (free trade tariff period) had in 1905 been increased to $3,261,236,119, an increase of almost 100 per cent in the protection period. Not from the building and loan association form of savings, for these show an almost equivalent increase in 1906 as compared with 1894. Not in diminution of what is known as industrial or wage earners' life insurance, for this line of insurance has increased enormously in the past ten years.

So the 63 and odd millions of dollars which went abroad last year in postal orders to foreign relatives must represent clear savings after meeting the increased cost of living, after swelling the savings bank deposits to an estimated total of $4,000,000,000 for 1906, and after investing money in building and loan associations and in life insurance.

There is no escape from the conclusion that the wage earners of the United States are accumulating money at a phenomenal rate in these years of protection prosperity.

THE ONE GREAT QUESTION.

Tariff a Matter of Wages and the Scale of Living.

One great central fact that should stand head and shoulders above all other elements in a discussion of the tariff seems to be entirely ignored in Miss Tarbell's treatment of the question. That fact is that first, last and all the time, whatever the past history may have been in periods when the subject of protection was but partially understood, the tariff is a question of wages and the scale of living.

Miss Tarbell may not be aware of this, or, knowing it, may not consider it worth mentioning as a part of the story of the tariff in our times. But it is, none the less, the one overshadowing arc of the economic circle.

Those who attempt the overthrow of the protective policy invariably emphasize the importance of low prices to consumers and neglect the importance and value of high wages and a high standard of living. They refuse to recognize the wage earned as the unit of all thrift, the basis of all prosperity; that upon the wage earned must depend the ability to purchase and the volume of consumption. They also fail to observe that a vast preponderance of consumers must first of all be wage earners, and that only a limited few of the idle rich are non-producers.

If the people of this country are to be won over to the cause of free trade it should be upon a fair and candid consideration of the question whether they are ready to throw away the American wage scale and the American standard of living, both higher by far than in any other part of the world. That is the question. Exaggerated statements of errors or faults in the earlier stages of tariff making are beside the mark. The thing to consider is the tariff of to-day and what it has done and will do for the American people as a whole. The story which omits a record of tariff-protected wages and a protection standard of living is but a meagre and partial history of the tariff in our times.

THE RULING PASSION STRONG IN DEATH.

Impossible to Please Everybody.

A great many Republicans would favor a revision of some of the tariff schedules if it did not mean a general revision. The country is in a very prosperous condition, but it could not stand the uncertainty of a reconstruction of the tariff without serious embarrassment. Those who are familiar with the history of tariff legislation know that each section wants protection upon the things it produces and free entry for the things it buys. The farmer wants protection upon the raw material he produces and no tariff upon the finished product he buys. The manufacturer wants free trade on raw material and a protective tariff to protect his finished product. The laborer wants the high wages which protection gives, but he would like to purchase with those wages things at the free trade price.

And so when it comes to making tariff schedules selfish interests are always at work, and the result is always a compromise, the product of log rolling and a measure of doubtful expediency. And these are facts which make many statesmen doubt the wisdom of ripping up a law under which the country has prospered and is prospering. Merchants and manufacturers must have stable conditions.—Lancaster (O.) Gazette.

An Industrial Crisis: When?

In the current discussion as to the outlook for continued prosperity varying opinions are expressed by financiers, railroad men, manufacturers and college presidents. The weight of judgment seems to be on the side of continued prosperity. This view is sustained by the fact of a power to consume equaling the power to produce. The power to consume rests chiefly upon wages earned and paid. Employment and wages are at high water mark. Will these conditions continue? That would seem to be the main question. Intimately related to that question is the question whether and when wages and industrial production are to be unsettled by tariff reduction and reciprocity arrangements designed to increase foreign competition with American labor and industry. Given the date when tariff revision downward and reciprocity in competing products shall have been definitely determined upon, and it will be much easier to guess at the date when the present prosperity will be followed by an industrial and commercial crisis.

In the tenth year of the Dingley tariff close upon five times the money went abroad from American wage earners that was sent in 1895, the first year of the revised tariff known as the Wilson-Gorman law—as $63,047,867 in 1906 was to $12,906,486 in 1899.

Is John D. Rockefeller's Latest Donation.

EDUCATION BOARD

In Session at New York Is Amazed at the Size of the Oil King's Second Gift to It.

New York. — Thirty-two million dollars' worth of income bearing securities was the gift which John D. Rockefeller, through his son, John D. Rockefeller, jr., announced to the general educational board when it assembled for a special meeting in this city Thursday.

For general education purposes throughout the country is given as the purpose of this donation—the largest single prize ever handed out for such purposes.

Mr. Rockefeller previously had given the board $11,000,000 for the same work, his contributions now amounting to $43,000,000.

Most of the members of the board were surprised at the announcement and amazed at the size of the gift. Dr. Buttrick, the secretary, said he did not know the gift was to be made until he read the letter. Other members did not know of the donation until the letter was read.

The members of the board who will administer Mr. Rockefeller's immense gift include some of the best known educators, financiers, publicists and philanthropists in the country.

While the board was in session yesterday gifts to five colleges were ordered, amounting in all to $400,000, as follows:

Beloit college, Beloit, Wis.; Morningside college, Sioux City, Ia.; Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., $50,000 each; Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., and the University of Wooster, O., each $125,000.

In 1903 the general educational board was chartered by congress. It employs a force of experts in the systematic study of educational conditions in all parts of the United States. The object of the organization is promoting education.

It is said that the board now has 250 applications before it. Many of them are from institutions well located, and in some instances negotiations are far advanced looking to the consolidation and relocation of competing colleges.

No gifts from this great fund are intended to be given to state educational institutions. Certain colleges will be selected for donations or endowments, forming a chain of educational institutions across the continent. It will become a question of a survival of the fittest, it is said.

THAW'S WIFE TESTIFIES.

She Tells the Story of Her Betrayal by Stanford White.

New York.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told her story Thursday. To save the life of her husband charged with murder she bared to the world the innermost secrets of her soul. It was the same story she told Harry Thaw in Paris in 1903, when he asked her to become his wife—the confession of one who felt there was an insurmountable barrier to her ever becoming the bride of the man she loved.

As the young wife unfolded the narrative of her girlhood and told the early struggles of herself and her mother to keep body and soul together; of how gaunt poverty stood ever at the door, and how she finally was able to earn a livelihood by posing for photographers and artists, she won the murmured sympathy of the throng which filled the big court room.

Then came the relation of the wreck of that girlhood at 16 years of age. It was the story of her meeting with Stanford White, the story of a sumptuous studio apartment whose dingy exterior gave no hint of the luxurious furnishings within; of a velvet-covered swing in which one could swing until slippered toes crashed through the paper of a Japanese parasol swung from the ceiling; the story of a glass of champagne, of black, whirling sensations and of mirrored bedroom walls. In short, she told all the story.

"Don't scream so. It is all over. It is all right."

"And this was Stanford White?"

The question came from Delphin M. Delmas, conducting the defense of Harry Thaw.

Mrs. Thaw was still on the stand, her direct examination uncompleted, when the day was done.

TWO MEET DEATH.

WRECK OF A NEW YORK CENTRAL TRAIN AT OSSINING, N.Y.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN WERE BURIED IN THE WREKAGE AND KILLED.

Ossining, N. Y. — The engineer and fireman of the Adirondack and Montreal express on the New York Central railroad were killed and five other persons, four of them passengers, injured when the train, northbound, sideswiped a freight engine a mile south of this village last night. The dead:

William Kirk, engineer.

James Armitage, fireman.

Both men were buried in the wreckage. None of the passengers was dangerously injured, though two sustained injuries necessitating their removal to a hospital here.

There are three tracks at the point where the accident occurred. A freight train that preceded the express had been switched from the main northbound track to the middle track to allow the express to pass and was proceeding slowly as the express approached. The snow and consequent slippery condition of the rails is supposed to have been responsible for the accident, for the engineer of the freight was unable to stop his train before the locomotive had taken a switch and half crossed the main track directly in the path of the passenger train.

The express engine struck the freight engine and rolled over the embankment. The coaches following were derailed, but did not overturn. The passengers were hurled about inside of the cars, most of their injuries being in the nature of bruises and cuts.

IT TOOK WINGS.

Evidence Against a New York Ice Trust Disappears from the Office of the Attorney General.

Albany, N. Y.—All the evidence on which was based the complaint of Attorney General Julius Mayer against the American Ice Co. for dissolution of an alleged monopoly of the ice business, served on December 20, has disappeared from the attorney general's office and cannot be found. This announcement was made last night by Attorney General William S. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson also made public several affidavits of employes of the attorney general's office which show that a part at least of the papers were known to be missing late in December before the retirement of his predecessor, Mr. Mayer, but that the disappearance of the evidence was not known to Mr. Jackson until early in January, when, after he had assumed office, he took up the case with a view of further proceedings.

Mr. Jackson said last night that he had served a demand upon the American Ice Co. for access to its books and records for the purpose of replacing the lost evidence.

NINE MEN KILLED.

A Disastrous Explosion on Board a French Torpedo Boat.

L'Orient, France.—As a result of an explosion on board torpedo boat No. 339 of the French navy Friday morning nine men are dead and two men are injured.

Torpedo boat No. 339 was launched but a short time ago and at the time of the accident she was undergoing, prior to being placed in commission, her full power steam trial in the roadstead. A naval committee was on board at the time.

The trial was successful, but as the boat was returning to her anchorage a safety tube forming part of the evaporation apparatus burst, and as a result a mass of flames was forced into the stokehole, where the engineer, a quartermaster and nine stokers were at work. The engineer and eight of the stokers were instantly burned to death. Their bodies were practically reduced to cinders. The other stoker was severely injured. The quartermaster succeeded in escaping from the hole.

Probing an Alleged Illegal Combine.

Chicago, Ill.—A federal grand jury on Friday began investigation of the American Seating Co. on complaints that the concern, which deals in school and church furniture, is operating in alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

PATRONIZE HOME MERCHANTS

The Great Danger to Local Interests That Are Found in the Mail-Order Systems—Educate the Public.

(Copyrighted, 1906, by Alfred C. Clark)

Why should we trade at home? Why should we consider home in any way more than any other place unless it pays us financially? First, because it is our home. The pride we should take in the prosperity of our home town and our neighbors should be sufficient inducement to give them the preference. Second, because beyond all doubt or question, it pays from a money point.

The greatest menace to the country merchant to-day is the mail order business, and with the decline of the country merchant comes inevitable loss to the citizens of both town and country. What at first was considered a great convenience and an exhibition of commendable enterprise has grown to be one of the crying commercial evils. The success of the mail order house is the result of constant, extensive and intelligent advertising. It is not by persistent swindling as some tell us, for no business was ever built up in that way. The home merchant can do no better than to adopt the same method, the judicious use of printer's ink.

While the merchants are the heaviest immediate losers, and could do much toward checking and correcting this growing evil, by liberal advertising and publishing prices, they should not be expected to do it all. Every newspaper should preach home trade, every teacher should instil it into his pupils in the school room, every minister should preach it from the pulpit. The debating societies and political conventions should discuss it. The interests of town and country and newspaper and church, and society generally, are so interwoven and so identical that whatever injures one will eventually injure all. When the merchants are compelled to bring on smaller stocks, and employ less help, and pay cheaper rent, they are not alone the sufferers; the whole community feels the loss. The price of real estate is largely dependent on its proximity to a good town. Rents are dependent on the amount of business. The merchant can move to some other town and establish himself again more readily than can the professional man and many others who have built up business through years of acquaintanceship and establishment of character. If the farmer, or property owner in town, want to sell out they are the greatest sufferers—they can't move their property to some place where people are booming their town and country by patronizing home.

The remedy lies in education and publicity. In many places that education will come through bitter experience, but, in other communities, where they are quicker to detect the approaching evil, and heed more readily the warnings of the press and friends of home, they may correct the evil more readily.

Wealth and power are corrupting influences and the mail order houses are probably not sending out as honest goods as they once did. They have learned the tricks of imitation and substitution and how easy it is to deceive the public. But, if the mail order man is honest, and his methods of advertising legitimate in every way, his success is of no interest to us and will never benefit our community in the slightest degree. If crops should fail or sickness render us short of money we could not expect him to trust us for a dollar—we must always look to the home merchant for credit in times of adversity.

Who is to blame? The mail order house? Not in the least. We alone are to blame. The near-sighted merchant who has lost trade by not acquainting the community with what he has to sell and with the fact that people could obtain at home, where they could personally examine them and return them if defective in any way, goods at as low a price as any catalogue house can sell them, every man and woman is to blame who sends away for goods; and everyone who fails to raise his voice in favor of home trade. The editor holds the most responsible position and should be the leader in this movement.

The remedy has been outlined in a general way. We will suggest the first steps. Let merchants buy at home—they cannot consistently ask others to trade with them when they do not patronize their brothers in trade. The editors should patronize home, and even at considerable personal sacrifice refuse foreign advertising for lines of goods in competition with the home merchant. The editor deserves more credit than he receives. Many a well-to-do farmer or city man would think himself perfectly justified in sending away for all his groceries and clothing if he thought he could save ten dollars thereby on a year's purchases, but most editors forfeit many times that much every year by refusing advertising from distant firms in the same lines of business as his home merchants; and sometimes the home merchant even then declines to advertise.

Trade-at-home clubs might be organized, with mottos something like Club," or "I Patronize the Home Merchants," or "I Buy Nothing from Mail Order Houses," for members to display. The acceptance and displaying of such a card might constitute a person nor member.

Much of the trading away from home is due to thoughtlessness and ignorance of business principles. Many persons consider only the first cost; if they save 25 cents on a ten-dollar order by buying from a mail order house they consider that clear gain. They should be shown that a merchant and his family living in their midst, keeps up a house, pays taxes, adds to the social features, contributes generously towards public enterprises, etc. If by buying at home their town gives support to several more local merchants, creating a better home market, they get back a liberal percentage. Every man and woman takes more or less pride in local affairs and is willing to contribute something toward home improvements, if the matter is fairly presented. That is why I say the remedy lies in education.

Most mail order houses claim they are enabled to sell cheaper than country dealers because they buy in larger quantities and get especially low prices. This is often a base misstatement of facts; let me cite an instance: A stock man from eastern Washington was visiting in Kansas City. One morning, walking with his nephew, who was a clerk in a leading wholesale hardware house, he asked where Bland & Co.'s store was located. "Don't think I ever heard of them," replied the young man. "O, yes, I do remember the firm; they have no store, they have an office in (giving the name of the building), but I don't see how they can sell hardware as low as your home merchants, for while we sell them goods at less than retail price, we don't give them as low prices as regular dealers, because they buy in such small quantities, just as they get orders." The stockman was greatly surprised, he supposed he had been dealing with one of the largest firms in the city.

The mail order business has developed so slowly, and works so quietly that few persons realize the magnitude it has assumed nor to what extent it is now sapping the life-blood of many small cities and towns. Even now we hear the excuse given for sending away for goods, that the merchants carry such poor stocks. The wonder is that they carry any.

Are you operating the tread mill to pour the wealth of your community into the bottomless hoppers of the mail-order house? Are you driving your local merchants out of business? If you are you are killing your town and your own interests.

The Real Power.

VALENTINING
By J.M Lewis
Oh, where are the girls of yester-year
The girls with blue eyes shining?
The girls who used to cost us dear
When we went valentining?
To whom we sang and meant it too,
"Oh sugar's sweet and so are you!"
To whom we sent with great ado
Two hearts all intertwining?
If these should meet the eyes of one
Loved in the yester-year
Whose tresses glinted in the sun
Whose blue eyes cost us dear.
We'd like to say and mean it too,
"Oh sugar's sweet and so were you!
But time has cut our love in two
Dear maid of yester-year."

HER VALENTINE

By GRACE DUFFIE BOYLAN

ANNE STACEY sat with her back to the light of her existence and the chandelier. But the respective luminaries remained equally indifferent, the one obscured by his evening paper and the other by a pink-tissue shade. So she lifted her pretty foot to the glow of the fire—the only glow that seemed in evidence anywhere—and engaged in her long-practised game of making the best of things. But the play went dully this night, although the coals arranged the usual pictures for her to gaze into and the castle-building materials were all at hand. Now and then she glanced at a big bowl of violets which stood on the table near her, and in her expression was a curious blending of indignation and triumph. There was silence in the room, except for a slow-pulsed clock, which struck the quarter-hours reluctantly, and the occasional rustling of the turning pages of the newspaper.

She felt strangely lonely. The girls had gone out, wearing their violets pinned in the fur and laces at their bonnie throats. The fragrance of the flowers at her side swept up with the memory of the lines which had come as a valentine to little Jeanne:

This thing I know, my dear,
My love for you, my dear,
Will last for aye!

"But it doesn't, Jeanne, child," she whispered sadly. "It does not last any longer than the dew lasts on the roses. But it is so sweet to be deceived!" She sighed. And again her eyes fell on the violets.

"Who in the world could have sent them to me?" she murmured. "And the verses! Impertinent, of course. But rather dear. The writing looks a little familiar, too; but I can't place it." She drew a little note from the dainty little rose-colored bag which swung from the ribbons at her waist, and scanned it by the firelight. A half-pleased smile crept up to her eyes, as she read:

These tender flowers are sent to you by one
To whom you are the starlight and the sun.
Their fragrance bears a message fond and true
From out a heart that beats alone for you.

"How dreadful!" murmured Anne Stacey, but with commendable forbearance. "I must show it to Dick!"

She rose determinedly, just as there was a sound of a sliding paper and a snore. She turned back and sat down, and the little foot on the fender tapped impatiently.

"Asleep again," she said, "and it is only half-past eight! Another tiresome evening ahead of me. Oh, dear, I don't see why I ever married him! A man so absorbed in business has no right to marry. He is so tired and dull when he comes home that he never talks. I believe I am getting so I dislike Dick, anyway. I just won't try to tell him about the flowers and note. He doesn't take the trouble to tell me anything. I wish I knew who sent it—that's what I wish!" Her cheeks were flushed now, and she looked resentfully at the form in the big leather chair. "I won't tell him a word," she repeated — then called sharply: "Dick!"

Stacey started up, dazedly. "Eh? Yes. All right! What is it, mamma?"

"It's St. Valentine's eve!"

"The deuce it is! I thought it was morning. What's up?"

"The girls have each received lovely big bunches of violets."

"Bully for the girls! Who sent 'em?"

"We don't know. Jeanne's came with a valentine—poetry, you know."

"Well, of course," said Stacey, "that is harder to bear. Know who wrote it?"

Mrs. Stacey shook her head. "No. But it is beautiful. She will always remember it."

"Will, eh? Can't get it out of her head, I suppose. Something like that 'Blue - trip - slip-for-an-eight-cent-fare' business."

Mrs. Stacey gave wifely inattention to his joke. Her mind seemed fixed on other subjects. Finally: "A woman always remembers such things. And sometimes they make dangerous food for hungry hearts."

The man behind the paper became conscious of a meaning in his wife's tone. He looked over the top of the sheet, to see that her gaze was fixed upon a bowl of violets on the stand before the fire. She went on:

"You never sent me a valentine, Dick. But some one else has. I wasn't going to tell you—when you were asleep—"

"Well, I'm glad you didn't then. But what about it now?"

"There isn't anything more about it. At least I only know that I received a valentine and a bunch of flowers, and I don't know who sent them. I wish I did, because I am tired of being left alone and neglected and—so there!"

"Why, mamma! Why—"

"You needn't 'Why' me!" The pitcher of patience indeed had been broken at the fountain. Mrs. Stacey was royally angry and in tears. "What do you men think women want in this life? Do you think we are satisfied with food and fire and clothes? I tell you we want love and attention as much as we do when we were young girls!"

She stopped, with shamed sobbing. Stacey had risen and now stood beside her chair. "What did he say, Anne?" he questioned quietly.

But she shook her head miserably.

"What did he say?" He reached down and took her slender hand in his broad palm.

"I can't tell you. You—never would understand—or appreciate—such tenderness. You—you never have—time—"

"What did he say, dear?"

"Oh, Dick. If only you had made love to me—if you ever—ever had—"

"Tell me what he said. You can't? Then let me tell you."

He knelt down beside her and her wondering eyes saw tears upon his bearded cheeks. But he reached over and took the bowl of violets in his hand as he said:

These tender flowers are sent to you by one
To whom you are the starlight and the sun.

"Dick! You? You?" She threw her arms around his neck. Her cheek was upon his cheek, her eyes seeking his eyes, as he continued:

Their fragrance bears a message fond and true
From out a heart which beats alone for you.

Then there was silence in the little room where a man knelt with his wife in his arms and the quick-pulsed clock called blithely the quarter-hours as they ran away with the eve of St. Valentine.

SELDOM THINKS.

Ethylene—Cholly sent me a lovely valentine and a note saying his thoughts are all of me—

Ernest—That signifies nothing; he doesn't think oftener than once a month.

LAWYERS ARE TIMID

Many Refuse to Act as Counsel for Capitol Investigating Commission.

REPUTATIONS WOULD SUFFER

Outlook Is That Inquiry Will Not Amount to Much Although Berry Seems to Think Quadruple Prices Prove His Case.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Pa.—"If anyone thinks that investigating the capitol is an easy job just let him try it."

Although this is probably not the exact language Gov. Stuart would use if asked how he felt about it, it comes pretty close to it. The governor is having troubles of his own in getting the probe started to work. Six or eight prominent Democratic lawyers of the state flatly refused to have anything to do with it when asked by the governor to act as counsel for the investigating committee. And this notwithstanding a good, fat fee was attached to the assignment.

The trouble is that the good lawyers are fearful of risking their reputations in taking hold of a case of the kind, the outcome of which is doubtful. Former Attorney General Hampton L. Carson gave it as his opinion that there was nothing upon which to base a prosecution. This in part accounts for the refusal of such eminent Democratic talent as Congressman John T. Lenahan of Wilkesbarre; W. U. Hensel of Lancaster, David T. Watson of Pittsburg, Jere S. Black of York, Simon P. Wolverton of Sunbury, and Charles H. Berger of Harrisburg, to associate themselves with the case.

Looks Like a Fizzle.

Whether one thinks there was corruption in connection with the building of the capitol or not, it must be admitted that it does not look at present as if much would be developed by the investigation. One thing seems certain, and that is that the commission will not be ready to submit its report to the present legislature. It may be made to the governor.

And there is another thing which is most apparent and that is that the governor is sincere in his efforts to have an honest investigation, whatever some of the other fellows may want. The governor went over into New York for his auditors, having employed the New York Audit company, and it cannot be charged that any of its members have political affiliations which would prevent them from making a thorough investigation of the accounts.

But State Treasurer Berry says the accounts are all right, as the books have been kept straight enough but that the overcharges and "steals" will have to be unearthed by methods other than by auditing the books. Mr. Berry feels that his personal integrity and the standing of the Democratic party are at stake in this capitol inquiry and he purposes taking an active hand in the investigation. He had quite a row with some of the Democratic leaders in the matter of deciding upon counsel to represent him at the inquiry.

Constitution Badly Wanted.

It is now generally believed that a new state constitution is an absolute necessity. The present constitution is constructed in such a way as to make it impossible in some instances to comply with its provisions. A bill has been introduced by Senator Joseph A. Langfitt of Allegheny calling for an election to be held next November at the time of the general election to decide upon whether to hold a constitutional convention or not. The convention will be composed of 150 members, three from each senatorial district, and each member will be paid $1,500 as compensation for his services together with $150 for postage and mileage.

Among the subjects to be considered in a constitutional convention are: To abolish spring elections, and to have but one election a year; to abolish minority representation in courts, boards, etc.; to remove restrictions in regard to judicial procedure, giving greater flexibility to court work; to abolish aldermen and appoint municipal courts in their place. Then there will probably be a score or more subjects raised when the time comes for the convention to act and it will practically amount to a legislative session. The bill provides that the convention shall be held on the first Tuesday in December next in the hall of the House of Representatives.

All Want Good Roads.

A bill introduced by Mr. Moore of Allegheny provides for an amendment to the constitution in order to provide that bonds to the amount of $25,000,000 be issued for highway improvement. By far the most popular subject for legislation is that of good roads. A large number of good roads resolutions and bills have been presented and there is certain to come out of it all an act that will put the highways in this state into first-class condition.

The senate has adopted Mr. Blewitt's resolution providing that the state highways department make surveys for the construction of a state highway across Pennsylvania from a point near Port Jervis through Sunbury to Pittsburg.

The Riley bill for the resurvey of all the railroads in the state is going to have a rocky road to travel before it goes on the statute books. The author of the bill thinks that inasmuch as some of the roads, particularly the Pennsylvania, have been taking out curves in their lines the distances between given points must be shorter than they were before.

Distance Increases.

Queer Railroad Figures.

But his theory that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points is all wrong. At least according to reports filed with the secretary of internal affairs and sworn to by the third vice president and the chief engineer of the Pennsylvania the distance between Harrisburg and Pittsburg was greater in 1906, when the last report was filed, than it was six years ago notwithstanding 10 or 15 miles of curves were taken out of the lines recently. To be accurate the mileage between Pittsburg and Harrisburg in 1900 was 248.25 and in 1906 it was 248.47, or almost a quarter of a mile more than it was before the curves were taken out.

The railroads have lined up to fight the Riley bill. They don't want the state to be so extravagant as to spend $100,000 for a survey of the roads and some tearful pleadings to save all this cash will be made by the railroad statesmen and lobbyists here.

Speaking of lobbyists they are coming here by the dozens. They are both for and "ferninst" a great quantity of legislation now in committees. And it is with the committeemen that the lobbyists are laboring. If petitions and memorials count for anything the local option people will get what they want. Many anti-Saloon league people are here and when the local option bill comes up it is going to cause lots of embarrassment for some of the legislators. Some of them regard it as politically the most dangerous bill it will be their fortune or misfortune to vote upon.

Commission to Be Appointive.

What is known as the "real thing" railroad commission bill to carry out the Republican party's pledge was introduced by Representative Dunsmore of Tioga in the House. The proposed commission is to be made a branch of the department of internal affairs. The governor is to appoint five commissioners. The commission will be empowered to same a secretary, an attorney and a marshal. The secretary is to be executive officer. The commission also will appoint an expert accountant and two inspectors. It will be a pretty nice thing for those who get the appointments for the commissioners are to be paid $6,500 a year each, the secretary and attorney $4,000 a year each and the marshal $2,500. The expenses of the commissioners are to be assessed upon the railroads.

The Fahey-Murphy resolution for a general probing of railroad company shortcomings and the substitute offered by Mr. Kennedy, of Allegheny, authorizing the attorney general to prosecute railroad companies for violations of the constitution were temporarily postponed.

New Automobile Law.

The first bill to pass the legislature this session is one of much importance to many counties of the state. It allows the county commissioners of any county to construct new bridges whenever it shall appear to them that those heretofore in use are no longer adequate or sufficient to accommodate the public travel. The commissioners are required to first get the approval of the court of quarter sessions and the grand jury.

Automobile owners and drivers will lead the "simple life" if a bill introduced by Mr. Crawford in the senate becomes a law. Anyone who accumulates a jag while running his red devil or yellow terror is subject to a fine of $100. Its purpose is to discourage reckless driving. The bill reduces the speed from that allowed by the law of 1905, which provided for a 10-mile rate in cities and boroughs and a 20-mile rate in the country. The new measure provides for a speed of a mile in four minutes on public streets and highways where the houses are 100 feet or less apart and for a speed of a mile in two minutes where the houses are more than 100 feet apart. Caution must be exercised in passing horses or turning curves. In case of use as ambulances or by physicians in responding to emergency calls autos are exempt from the speed limit.

Reading Under Water.

An electric arc lamp, capable of efficiently supplying the needs of underwater illumination for ship salvage and other similar work, as well as for operations in explosive atmospheres, has been tried in the harbor of Aberdeen in connection with repairs effected on the dock gates there, without taking them out of position. It was found that a thorough examination of the dock gates could be made by the aid of the lamp, and in order to demonstrate its power one of the divers returned for a newspaper, and after descending to the bottom of the dock, a depth of twenty feet, read a portion of it through the telephone to those on the surface.

Obeys Major's Orders.

Major General Frederick D. Grant tells a story of his friend, Major Green:

"Major Green said to his servant one morning:

"'James, I have left my mess boots out. I want them soled.'

"'Yes, sir,' the servant answered.

"The major, dressing for dinner that night, said again:

"'I suppose, James, that you did as I told you about those boots?'

"James laid 35 cents on the bureau.

"'Yes, sir,' said he, 'and this is all I could get for them, though the corporal who bought 'em said he'd have given half a dollar if pay day hadn't been so far off.'"—Cleveland Plaindealer.

THE HEART CAN'T STAND RHEUMATIC ACID POISONING

To Free and Correct the Blood a URIC-O Treatment Is Advised

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains throughout the body, especially around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acids are there ready to grip tightly the muscles controlling this organ. Don't neglect these warnings, for they are the danger signals nature flashes to you for help. There is but one way to overcome this poisonous foe, and that is a thorough treatment with Smith's Specific Uric-O. If your system is filled with neuralgia, and if your blood and kidneys are diseased with rheumatic poison, there is no surer way on earth to get relief than through the use of Uric-O. Uric-O is a harmless liquid internal remedy, taken in small doses three times a day, and does not contain a drop of alcohol, opium, or other dangerous poisons. Uric-O is simply a cure for Sciatica, Muscular, Inflammatory and Articular Rheumatism. They all yield readily to Uric-O treatment. Your Druggist sells Uric-O at $1.00 per bottle. If he does not keep the remedy, you can obtain the same by addressing the makers of Uric-O, the SMITH DRUG COMPANY, SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Uric-O is sold in Emporium by L. Taggart. 32ly.

PHYSICIANS DISAGREE.

Different Opinions on Cooper's Remarkable Success Held by Cincinnati Medical Men.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 13.—The astonishing sale of Cooper's preparations in the city has now reached such immense figures that the medical fraternity at at large have become forced into open discussion of the man and his preparations.

The physicians as a whole seem to be divided with regard to the young man's success in Cincinnati—some being willing to credit him for what he has accomplished, while others assert that the interest he has aroused is but a passing fad which cannot last, and which will die out as quickly as it has sprung up.

The opinion of these two factions is very well voiced in the statements made recently by two of a number of physicians who were interviewed on the subject.

Dr. J. E. Carass, when questioned about the matter said: "I have not been a believer in proprietary preparations heretofore nor can I say that I believe in them at present. But I must admit that some of the facts recently brought to my notice concerning this man Cooper have gone far towards removing the prejudice I had formed against him when the unheard of demand for the preparations first sprang up in this city. Numbers of my patients whom I have treated for chronic liver, kidney and stomach troubles have met me after taking Cooper's remedy and have stated positively that he has accomplished wonderful results for them. I notice particularly in cases of stomach trouble that the man has relieved several cases of years standing that proved very obstinate in treatment."

"I am the last man on earth to stand in the way of anything that may prove for the public good simply through professional prejudice, and I am inclined to give Cooper and his preparations credit as deserving to some extent the popular demonstration that has been accorded them in this city."

Another well known physician who was seen took the opposite view of the "Cooper mania," as he called it, which now has this city in its grip. He said: "I can only liken the present state of affairs to a certain kind of hallucination. For want of a better name I might call it "Cooper-mania." The people of Cincinnate seem to be firm in the belief that this man Cooper has health corked up in a bottle."

"Some of them imagihe that he has completely cured them of various ills judging from their statements. It is beyond me to say why the city has gone crazy over the man. It may be safely put down. I think, to one of the passing fads that so often attack the American public."

"Sooner or later the people are bound to regain their senses and will then realize the reputable physicans is the one to whom their health had best be entrusted."

In the meantime Cooper meets several thousand people daily, and only smiles when statements of the above character are quoted to him. His charitable work still continues to be very extensive.

HEARTS AND MASKS

CHAPTER II.—Continued.

I drew out my wallet. I had arrived in town too late to go to the bank, and I was carrying an uncomfortably large sum in gold-bills. As I opened the wallet to extract a small bill, I saw the stranger eying me quietly. Well, well, the dullest being brightens at the sight of money and its representatives. I drew out a small bill and handed it to the proprietor. He took it, together with the mask, and sidled over to the cash register. The bell gave forth a muffled sound, not unlike that of a fire-bell in a snowstorm. As he was in the act of wrapping up my purchase, I observed the silent customer's approach. When he reached my side, he stooped and picked up something from the floor. With a bow, he presented it to me.

"I saw it drop from your pocket," he said; and then when he saw what it was, his jaw fell, and he sent me a hot, penetrating glance.

"The ten of hearts!" he exclaimed, in amazement.

I laughed easily.

"The ten of hearts!" he repeated.

"Yes; four hearts on one side and four on the other, and two in the middle, which make ten in all,"—raillery in my tones. What the deuce was the matter with everybody tonight? "Marvelous card, isn't it?"

"Very strange!" he murmured, pulling at his lips.

"And in what way is it strange?" I asked, rather curious to learn the cause of his agitation.

"There are several reasons,"—briefly.

"Ah!"

"I have seen a man's hand pinned to that card; therefore it is grewsome."

"Some card sharper?"

He nodded. "Then again, I lost a small fortune because of that card,"—diffidently.

"Poker?"

"Yes. Why will a man try to fill a royal flush? The man next to me drew the ten or hearts, the very card I needed. The sight of it always unnerves me. I beg your pardon."

"Oh, that's all right," said I, wondering how many more lies he had up his sleeve.

"And there's still another reason. I saw a man put six bullets into the two central spots, and an hour later the seventh bullet snuffed the candle of a friend of mine. I am from the west."

"I can sympathize with you," I returned. "After all that trouble, the sight of the card must have given you a shock."

Then I stowed away the fatal card and took up my bundle and change. I have in my own time tried to fill royal flushes, and the disappointment still lingers with a bitter taste.

"The element of chance is the most fascinating thing there is," the stranger from the west volunteered.

"So it is," I recalled, suddenly recalling that I was soon to put my trust in the hands of that very fickle goddess.

He nodded and returned to his revolvers, while I went out of the shop, hailed a cab, and drove up town to my apartments in Riverside. It was eight o'clock by my watch. I leaned back against the cushions, ruminating. There seemed to be something going on that night; the ten of hearts was acquiring a mystifying, not to say sinister aspect. First it had alarmed the girl in Mouquin's, and now this stranger in the curio-shop. I was confident that the latter had lied in regard to his explanations. The card had startled him, but his reasons were altogether of transparent thinness. A man never likes to confess that he is unlucky at cards; there is a certain pride in lying about the enormous stakes you have won and the wonderful draws you have made. I frowned. It was not possible for me to figure out what his interest in the card was. If he was a westerner, his buying a pistol in a pawnshop was at once disrobed of its mystery; but the inconsistent elegance of his evening clothes doubled my suspicions. Bah! What was the use of troubling myself with this stranger's affairs? He would never cross my path again.

In reasonable time the cab drew up in front of my apartments. I dressed, donned my Capuchin's robe and took a look at myself in the pier glass. Then I unwrapped the package and put on the mask. The whole made a capital outfit and I was vastly pleased with myself. This was going to be such an adventure as one reads about in the ancient numbers of Blackwood's. I slipped the robe and mask into my suitcase and lighted my pipe. During great moments like this, a man gathers courage and confidence from a pipeful of tobacco. I dropped into a comfortable Morris, touched the gas logs, and fell into a pleasant dream. It was not necessary for me to start for the Twenty-third street ferry till nine; so I had something like three-quarters of an hour to idle away. . . . What beautiful hair that girl had! It was like sunshine, the silk of corn, the yield of the harvest. And the marvelous abundance of it! It was true that she was an artist's model; it was equally true that she had committed a mild impropriety in addressing me as she had; but, for all I could see, she was a girl of delicate breeding, doubtless one of the many whose family fortunes, or misfortunes, forced them to earn a living. And it is no disgrace these days to pose as an artist's model. The classic oils, nowadays, call only for exquisite creations in gowns and hats; mythology was exhausted by the old masters. Rome, Paris, London; possibly a bohemian existence in these cities accounted for her ease in striking up a conversation, harmless enough, with a total stranger. In Paris and Rome it was all very well; but it is a risky thing to do in unromantic New York and London. However, her uncle had been with her; a veritable fortress, had I overstepped the bounds of politeness.

The smoke wavered and rolled about me. I took out the ten of hearts and studied it musingly. After all, should I go? Would it be wise? I confess I saw goblins' heads peering from the spots, and old Poe stories returned to me. Pshaw! It was only a frolic, no serious harm could possibly come of it. I would certainly go, now I had gone thus far. What fool idea the girl was bent on I hadn't the least idea; but I easily recognized the folly upon which I was about to set sail. Heigh-ho! What was a lonely young bachelor to do? At the most, they could only ask me to vacate the premises, should I be so unfortunate as to be discovered. In that event, Teddy Hamilton would come to my assistance. . . . She was really beautiful! And then I awoke to the alarming fact that the girl in Mouquin's was interesting me more than I liked to confess.

Presently, through the haze of smoke, I saw a patch of white paper on the rug in front of the pier glass. I arose and picked it up.

Took a Look at Myself in the Glass.

NAME Hawthorne
COSTUME Blue Domino
TIME 5:30 P. M.
RETURNED
ADDRESS West 87th Street
FRIARD'S

I stared at the bit of pasteboard, fascinated. How the deuce had this got into my apartments? A Blue Domino? Ha! I had it! Old Friard had accidentally done up the ticket with my mask. A Blue Domino; evidently I wasn't the only person who was going to a masquerade. Without doubt this fair domoiselle was about to join the festivities of some shop-girl's masquerade, where money and pedigree are inconsequent things, and where everybody is either a "loidy" or a "gent." Persons who went to my kind of masquerade did not rent their costumes; they laid out extravagant sums to the fashionable modiste and tailor, and had them made to order. A Blue Domino: humph!

It was too late to take the ticket back to Friard's; so I determined to mail it to him in the morning.

It was now high time for me to be off. I got into my coat and took down my opera hat. Outside the storm was still active; but the snow had a promising softness, and there were patches of stars to be seen here and there in the sky. By midnight there would be a full moon. I got to Jersey City without mishap; and when I took my seat in the smoker, I found I had ten minutes to spare. I bought a newspaper and settled down to read the day's news. It was fully half an hour between Jersey City and Blankshire; in that time I could begin and finish the paper.

There never was a newspaper those days that hadn't a war map in some one of its columns; and when I had digested the latest phases of the war in the far east, I quite naturally turned to the sporting page to learn what was going on among the other professional fighters. (Have I mentioned to you the fact that I was all through the Spanish war, the mix-up in China, and that I had resigned my commission to acept the post of traveling salesman for a famous motor car company? If I have not, pardon me. You will now readily accept my recklessness of spirit as a matter of course.) I turned over another page; from this I learned that the fair sex was going back to puff-sleeves again. Many an old sleeve was going to be turned upside down.

Fudge! The train was rattling through the yards. Another page crackled. Ha! Here was that unknown gentleman-thief again, up to his old tricks. It is remarkable how difficult it is to catch a thief who has good looks and shrewd brains. I had already written him down as a quasi-swell. For months the police had been finding clues, but they had never laid eyes on the rascal. The famous Haggerty of the New York detective force,—a man whom not a dozen New York policemen knew by sight and no criminals save those behind bars, earthly and eternal.—was now giving his whole attention to the affair. Some gaily dressed lady at a ball would suddenly find she had lost some valuable gems; and that would be the end of the affair, for none ever recovered her gems.

The gentleman-thief was still at large, and had gathered to his account a comfortable fortune; that is, if he were not already rich and simply a kleptomaniac. No doubt he owned one of my racing cars, and was clear of the delinquent lists at his clubs. I dismissed all thought of him, threw aside the paper, and mentally figured out my commissions on sales during the past month. It was a handsome figure, large enough for two. This pastime, too, soon failed to interest me. I gazed out of the window and watched the dark shapes as they sped past.

I saw the girl's face from time to time. What a fool I had been not to ask her name! She could easily have refused, and yet as easily have granted the request. At any rate, I had permitted the chance to slip out of my reach, which was exceedingly careless on my part. Perhaps they—she and her uncle—frequently dined at Mouquin's; I determined to haunt the place and learn. It would be easy enough to address her the next time we met. Besides, she would be curious to know all about the ten of hearts and the desperate adventure upon which I told her I was about to embark. Many a fine friendship has grown out of smaller things.

AILING WOMEN.

Keep the Kidneys Well and the Kidneys Will Keep You Well.

Sick, suffering, languid women are learning the true cause of bad backs and how to cure them. Mrs. W. G. Davis, of Groesbeck, Texas, says: "Backaches hurt me so I could hardly stand. Spells of dizziness and sick headaches were frequent and the action of the kidneys was irregular. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills I passed several gravel stones. I got well and the trouble has not returned. My back is good and strong and my general health better."

Jews in Senate Chamber.

Simon Guggenheim will be the sixth Jew to sit as a member in the United States senate. The first Jew chosen to that honor was David Yules, who represented Florida from March, 1840, to March, 1853. He was born in the West Indies and his name was David Levy, by which he was known when he was elected as a member of the house of representatives in 1841. The second Jew in the senate was Judah P. Benjamin, who served from 1852 to 1857. He also was born in the West Indies. He represented Louisiana. Benjamin F. Jonas was born in Kentucky and represented Louisiana in the senate. Joseph Simon was a senator from Oregon from 1898 to 1903. Isidor Rayner was chosen as a senator from Maryland in 1904.

CHINESE HAD FIRST ZOO.

Institution of Menageries Was Due to Two Incentives.

The Chinese had the first zoo. Menageries are thought to owe their origin partly to the cult of sacred animals and partly to the ambition of rulers to possess specimens of rare and valuable creatures from foreign lands or savage beasts from their own. In the simplest forms zoological gardens were one of the earliest developments of culture, and were familiar to the Chinese, Indians, Greeks, Romans, and pre-Spanish Mexicans in ancient times. The oldest recorded menagerie is Chinese, dating from 1150 B. C. The den of lions kept by Darius, as described in the book of Daniel, is an example of one of those primitive menageries, while the cult of sacred white horses by the ancient Greeks and Romans and that of so-called white elephants in Burma and Siam are instances of a second type. A live giraffe was received at the menagerie of Schonbrunn as early as 1828.

PROFSSOR HAD LAST LAUGH.

Final Erasure Neatly Turned Joke on Students.

President Hadley, of Yale, was talking about his student days. "I remember a stately and venerable professor," he said, "upon whom some sophomores once tried to play a trick.

"The professor, one morning, being unable to attend to his class on account of a cold, wrote on the blackboard:

"'Dr. Dash, through indisposition, is unable to attend to his classes to-day.'

"The students erased one letter in this notice, making it read:

"'Dr. Dash, through indisposition, is unable to attend to his lasses to-day.'

"But it happened a few minutes later that the professor returned for a box he had forgotten. Amid a roar of laughter he detected the change in his notice, and, approaching the blackboard calmly erased one letter in his turn.

"Now the notice read:

"'Dr. Dash, through indisposition, is unable to attend to his asses to-day.'"

MAY BE COFFEE

That Causes all the Trouble.

When the house is afire, it's like a body when disease begins to show, it's no time to talk but time to act—delay is dangerous—remove the cause of the trouble at once.

"For a number of years," says a Kansas lady, "I felt sure that coffee was hurting me, and yet, I was so fond of it, I could not give it up. I paltered with my appetite and of course yielded to the temptation to drink more. At last I got so bad that I made up my mind I must either quit the use of coffee or die.

"Everything I ate distressed me, and I suffered severely almost all the time with palpitation of the heart. I frequently woke up in the night with the feeling that I was almost gone,—my heart seemed so smothered and weak in its action that I feared it would stop beating. My breath grew short and the least exertion set me to panting. I slept but little and suffered from rheumatism.

"Two years ago I stopped using the old kind of coffee and began to use Postum Food Coffee, and from the very first I began to improve. It worked a miracle! Now I can eat anything and digest it without trouble. I sleep like a baby, and my heart beats full, strong and easily. My breathing has become steady and normal, and my rheumatism has left me. I feel like another person, and it is all due to quitting coffee and using Postum Food Coffee, for I haven't used any medicine and none would have done any good as long as I kept drugging with coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a Reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. All grocers.

"Soap Sense."

The difference in cost between a poor toilet soap and a good toilet soap such as Buchan's soap, is a cent or two per week. The difference in results, though, cannot be measured in money. The cheap soap made from impure fat and powerful alkali, irritates the skin and results in all kinds of skin trouble. Buchan's Antiseptic Soap, however, is not only absolutely pure and a fine cleanser, but it contains Phenol Absolut, an ideal antiseptic protecting the user against contamination. If your dealer does not keep it send his name and address with 18 cents to Buchan's Soap Corporation, New York, and they will send you a full size cake.

United States' Banking Power.

The banking power of the United States, capital, surplus and circulation, as revealed by Comptroller Ridgely's 1906 report, is $16,462,470,465. All foreign countries combined have a banking power of only $22,952,500,000, or only $6,490,029,535 more than that of the United States alone. In 16 years the United States has increased its banking power by 219 per cent., against 102.6 per cent. increase in that of all foreign countries combined.

Caution.

Imitations have been placed upon the market so closely resembling Allcock's Plasters in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Allcock's, for they are not only lacking in the best elements which have made Allcock's so efficient, but are often harmful in their effects. Remember that Allcock's are the original and only genuine porous plasters—the best external remedy known—and when purchasing plasters the only safe way is to always insist upon having Allcock's.

A man will remember the kiss he failed to get long after the others are forgotten.

NERVOUS HEADACHES

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Cure Most Cases and Should Interest Every Sufferer.

Nobody who has not endured the suffering caused by nervous headache can realize the awful agony of its victims. Worst of all, the ordinary treatment cannot be relied upon to cure nor even to give relief. Some doctors will say that if a person is subject to these headaches there is nothing that can be done to prevent their recurrence.

Nervous headaches, as well as neuralgia, are caused by lack of nutrition—the nerves are starved. The only way to feed the nerves is through the blood and it is in this way that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished so many remarkable cures.

Mrs. Addie Merrill, of 39 Union Street, Auburn, Me., says: "For years I suffered from nervous headaches, which would come on me every five or six weeks and continue for several days. The pain was so severe that I would be obliged to go to bed for three or four days each time. It was particularly intense over my right eye. I tried medicines but got no relief. I had no appetite and when the headache passed away I felt as if I had been sick for a month. My blood was thin and I was pale, weak and reduced in weight.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a paper and decided to try them. I first noticed that they began to give me an appetite and I commenced to gain in weight and color. My headaches stopped and have not returned and I have never felt so well as I do now."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MOTHERHOOD

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Note what Mrs. James Chester, of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

THE CANADIAN WEST IS THE BEST WEST

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The testimony of thousands during the past year is that the Canadian West is the best West. Year by year the agricultural returns have increased in volume and in value, and still the Canadian Government offers 160 acres FREE to every bona fide settler.

Some of the Advantages

The phenomenal increase in railway mileage—main lines and branches—has put almost every portion of the country within easy reach of churches, schools, markets, cheap fuel and every modern convenience.

The NINETY MILLION BUSHEL WHEAT CROP of this year means $80,000,000 to the farmers of Western Canada, apart from the results of other grains and cattle.

A LAND PRODUCING

TWO CROPS PER YEAR

Marvelously Rich; Enormous Yield; Farmers Flocking In.

Brownsville, Tex., Feb. 5.—Brownsville is the southern terminus of the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico railway. This line was completed in 1904, and has opened up to development a section of the richest and most productive land to be found anywhere in the United States—California not excepted.

There is no more fertile region in all this broad land of ours than that between the Nueces and the Rio Grande. None will produce a greater variety of fruits and vegetables, or produce them more abundantly; and what counts for more, the Gulf coast country will produce them at times when no other region can. Two crops per year of the staple vegetables is the regular programme. And yet up to the fall of 1904 comparatively little was known of this marvelous fertility. The region has heretofore been given over to cattle raising—ranches of thousands of acres—thus tying up all this vast natural "Winter Vegetable Garden" under the merciless hoof of Texas beef producers.

But this is all changing and changing fast. Eastern and northern farmers and fruit growers are flocking into this country. Towns are springing up—ranches have been cut up into farms—on every hand is the evidence of a new era of prosperity and of development along the line of extensive irrigated farming.

There is an underlying sheet of clear artesian water which has been tapped by hundreds of wells, and more are being sunk daily. This provides a never-failing source of supply for the one element needed to make this country a veritable garden, and there are those who predict great things for this Gulf coast of Texas. I am advised that 16 car loads of people were brought down from different points along the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico railway by the Rock Island trains alone on January 15, which was the date of a low-rate excursion.

At this pace the country bids fair to be peopled in short order. And all it needs is people.

In another part of this paper will be found an interesting advertisement regarding this country and how to learn more about it.

MOUNTAIN GUIDES FAIL HER.

Miss Peck Will Make Another Attempt Upon the Highest Andean Peak.

Miss Annie Peck, whose chief pleasure is climbing mountains, has returned to New York from Peru, beaten in her attempt to climb the highest of the Andes, beaten not by the mountain itself, but the worthlessness of the men she employed as guides and porters on the expedition. She is convinced that she would have reached the summit but for the faults of her men and says she is going back with Swiss mountain men to make another attempt.

As it was she reached a height of 18,000 feet, being then about 2,000 feet above the summit. This was at her first attempt. One of her men deserted and the rest got drunk on the alcohol which was carried as fuel for cooking. Besides they were all afraid of the trip and especially as they approached the top of the mountain, of which they have a superstitious dread.

The second attempt was like the first, except that the men gave out sooner and so less progress was made before the attempt had to be abandoned.

FEARFUL BURNING SORES.

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema In Rough Scales, Itching and Inflamed—Cured by Cuticura.

"I wish to inform you that your wonderful Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. The longer the doctors treated him the worse it became. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed, and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. When I think of his suffering, it nearly breaks my heart. His screams could be heard downstairs. The suffering of my son made me full of misery. I had no ambition to work, to eat, nor could I sleep. One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up for a bad job. One evening I saw an article in the paper about the wonderful Cuticura and decided to give it a trial. I tell you that Cuticura Ointment is worth its weight in gold, and when I had used the first box of Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent, my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

HORTICULTURE

A CHEAP GREENHOUSE.

Structure That Will Prove Adequate for the Small Business.

This greenhouse was built for the purpose of supplying a country town with cut flowers, but later young plants of tomatoes, cabbage and cauliflower were grown as an experiment. These proving successful, many vegetables were grown and put upon the home market, some time before the gardeners had sowed the seed.

This greenhouse is perhaps larger than most gardeners would need, being 60x80 feet, says a correspondent of Orange Judd Farmer. The main entrance is from the south, there being two walks two and one-half feet wide, each extending the length of the house. At the north end of the walk is a door and window opening into the furnace room. This window furnishes all the air for the furnace room during cold weather. This furnace room is 7x18 feet and has an outside door. The pipes extend through the house from the furnace under the center bench and back again to the boiler. The center bench is six feet wide and two side benches each three and one-half feet wide.

Interior of Greenhouse.

Some 840 feet of lumber was required for the benches, which cost $1.25 per hundred feet, rough oak being used for most of the work. The bill of materials for construction of this house was as follows:

960 feet siding at $1.25	$12 00
840 feet for benches	10 50
1,060 feet of sash	53 00
1,200 feet of glass	54 00

Orchard and Garden.

Fight the scale or cut your trees down.

How many apples have you eaten today?

Scions for grafting purposes can be taken at any time during the winter, or while in a dormant condition. They can be wrapped in wet burlap, packed with moss, or boxed with old sawdust or excelsior.

We must grow low headed apple trees so that we can spray and pick the fruit at least cost, says a correspondent of Farm and Home. I advocate to start a head nine in from the ground and keep the tree low so that the fruit can be picked with a 12-foot ladder.

Send in your nursery order before the rush.

Too much land is the bane of many small fruit growers.

Be sure to have a full crop of nursery catalogues. Write for 'em.

Keep an eye on the strawberry bed. If winds blow the mulch off in spots, replace it at once.

Be prepared to adopt the valuable practical advice which is given so freely by neighbors and practical fruit growers.—Farm Journal.

Heart of the Apple Tree.

It is quite a popular impression that the heart of the apple tree is essential to its well-being. Yet it is known that the heart is but dead wood and plays little part in the life or usefulness of the tree. It helps to keep the tree upright and gives strength to it after the wood that composes the heart has ceased to perform cellular work. The strength given by the heart is valuable when great windstorms sweep over the orchard; for without the hard wood in the center of the tree, it would bend and break. It is often noticed that hearts of apple trees rot out, and the trees go on bearing as if nothing had happened.

Fruit Tree Whitewash.

Last spring I made a whitewash for apple trees with water in which tobacco stems and refuse tobacco had been boiled, using the usual amount of lime required to make a good thick coat on the trees when applied. The effect was beyond my expectation. It made the bark look sleek and healthy, even on trees that had considerable moss on them, also the insects were destroyed on most of the trees. To spray an orchard thoroughly in early winter and again in the spring with the above whitewash will, says Farm and Home, at least hold many insects in check.

No man is so foolish but he may give another good counsel sometimes, and no man is so wise but may easily err if he will take no other's counsel but his own.—Ben Jonson.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A May Irwin Story.

The irrepressible May Irwin tells of a little New Yorker who had a bath so seldom and wore such dirty clothes that it was more than the children and teacher could stand. So she was sent home to be made more bearable but returned as dirty as ever, accompanied by a sister who inquired what she was sent home for. The teacher explained. Then the sister burst out: "Well, say, me mudder says does our Rosie come here to git smelt or to git learnt?"

THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

The school board of Lumber township has for several years experienced considerable trouble to have the children throughout the country, who are of the required age, to attend school and have as a last resort appointed Constable Lupro as Truant Officer to look after these children and compel their parents to have them sent to school. This has proved a very successful move, as there have been already an increase of nearly one dozen scholars in attendance and more expected in the near future. It is a very serious mistake on the part of parents not allowing their children to attend school because they are needed at home to help do the work or for other reasons, when they should be sent to school and receive the neccessary education so they may be able to take care of themselves in the ways of life as they grow older and are compelled to start out in the world for themselves. The school board has made the right move and it is hoped that in the near future they may have all the children who are of the required age, in attendance.

SINNAMAHONING.

Everybody is busy harvesting ice this week.

Geo. P. Shafer has a fine team on trial which he anticipates purchasing.

W. J. Mead visited his family the first of the week.

The wood mill has been shut down for a few days, having run out of stock.

Barclay Bro's have finished hauling logs out of Logues Run.

W. H. Van Wert and A. L. Ensign visited at the county seat Monday evening.

Born to L. E. Smith and wife, Saturday, a daughter.

Noel Bushore is trying to catch a fox near his place but Gundy Logue has hoodoed his trap.

Otto Wykoff, while working on a log landing, was struck on the head by a log which fell off of a pile. He was badly cut but is doing well at present. It was a narrow escape from death.

The cold snap has pleased most everybody around here.

The Powder Co. have twenty-five men and teams filling their ice house this week.

Pop Berfield who has been prophesying an open winter, according to the goose bone, has made up his mind that the ground hog knows more about it than he does.

Gundy Logue is canvasing for garden seeds. He says he has pole beans the pod of which grows from two to four feet long and cucumbers from three to four feet long; all other vegetables correspondingly.

A Habit to be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saves herself a great amount of uneasiness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup, to which children are susceptible are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear, it will prevent the attack. This remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of perfect security. Sold by L. Taggart: J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannels slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relif is almost sure to follow. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.
